

There should be more diversity not less. The concentration of our media outlets to a few corporations is undemocratic and a slap in the face to those who believe that many voices are better than a few.